Dear Judge, Arcara,

I am enclosing a copy of an email - emailed to the Courts on June 1, 2023. I have not seen the enclosed on the Court docket, and I wanted to be sure you did receive a copy.

I apologize for taking the Courts time. I am at a loss as to how to address with the Courts Mr. Parlato's true character, consistent abuse, reckless disregard for the truth, and attempted intimidation. That said, I am starting to become concerned for my safety, and I would like that on the record.

When or if Your Honor sentences Mr. Parlato to serve time, I feel I will be the one he, they, blame, not himself or the actions that brought him to your courtroom. Mr. Parlato has not taken any responsibility for his actions, just the opposite. He uses anyone he can to try and make himself out to be a hero and a victim of the legal system for his upcoming sentencing.

Mr. Parlato has now again begun using his blog to intimidate me - and others who wrote in third-party letters - by writing a series of negative articles.

One blog post broke down the letter I sent to the Courts with alarming comments, —

Using the moniker "NXIVM Art," written by Ashley Marie Tweed. She writes in part..." I have this morbid painting of you smoking a Marlboro while a child lays in wait in a closet to be sexually assaulted by your ex-boyfriend. I'm glad Frank picked apart your lies to his judge."

Ms. Tweed, who works for Mr. Parlato, - wrote a letter of support and has a criminal history of violence.

PEMBROKE PARK, Fla. — A 41-year-old woman, who Monroe County Sheriff's Office discovered had outstanding warrants in Broward County for prostitution, drugs and trespassing, was arrested Friday night after a series of violent incidents.

According to deputies, Ashley Marie Tweed attacked a neighbor, threw rocks and kicked deputies, and smashed her head until it split open in a patrol car. Monroe County Sheriff's Office Deputies said they were called to a scene on Geranium Drive at 10:25 p.m. of reports of a suspicious person who attacked someone.

The man who called sheriff's deputies said he saw a blonde woman lying in the street and when he went to check on her, she slapped a drink out of his hand and hit him. The woman, later identified as Tweed, then fled, but was found by the man nearby.

The caller reported that when he located her the second time, she was naked and banging on a parked car. Tweed ended up on Bittersweet Avenue where deputies found her in the street. She then ran away from them and back to Geranium Drive, where she hid underneath a truck.

When deputies finally coaxed her out from under the truck, she threw rocks and ran toward a house. One of the deputies fired a Taser, but it had no effect, according to their report. Another deputy fired a Taser striking her as she ran upstairs and into the residence.

It was there that deputies found her in a bathroom, where she resisted arrest by kicking deputies as they tried to remove her from the house.

Once inside the patrol car, as crews were working on removing Taser barbs, she began smashing head against the divider, which the report said, caused her head to split open. She was taken out of the car so paramedics could attend to her bleeding head. She continued to try to get away by kicking anyone that came near her, they said.

Tweed received more than 10 staples to her head after being transported to Lower Keys Medical Center. She was eventually cleared by medical staff at the hospital and taken to jail.

Tweed faces charges of two counts of a battery on a law enforcement officer, two counts of resisting with violence, two counts of resisting arrest without violence and battery.

Her warrants out of Broward County are for possession of cocaine, possession of drug paraphernalia, trespassing and prostitution.

More arrests have followed, the most recent on 3.9.2023.

Respectfully submitted,

Dear Judge, Arcara,

My name is Toni Natalie. I am one of the "third-party letters regarding Defendant Frank Parlato.

On 5.30.23 # 356 - Minute Entry ... "The Court will file and make public the letters and consider them at the sentencing. Each party shall file submissions regarding the letters by 6.23.2023. The Defendant's request to file a brief response to the Government's submissions by 6.30.2023 is granted. Sentencing set for 6.5.2023 is reset for 7.6.2023 at 11:00 AM, which will be held in person and in the Courtroom. Defendant remains on release."

I don't know if the Court intended to redact personal information before making the letters public. Still, Mr. Parlato's need to "get ahead of the story" and the need for retaliation has taken that option off the table.

I started receiving text messages from Ms. Kim Snyder at 10:49 AM stating she received this letter (my letter) from an anonymous source -65 text messages later and... I'm sharing several screenshots here for you.

Exactly the results Mr. Parlato knew would happen. Mr. Parlato remains on release despite several probation violations - now what? I have heard it all; Parlato has a good attorney, people are afraid of him, the case is old, he is old, his co-defendant walked free, and so will he, will he?

I ask the Courts to hold Mr. Parlato responsible for releasing this letter before the Court and Government's approval. He has been hiding behind his fake names and abusing the Frist Amendment for years. He will try manipulating the Courts by pretending he had nothing to do with this. The only thing this did was cause someone unnecessary pain for his gain.

Thank you for considering the letters in his sentencing; this is why the character references sent by the few third parties not afraid of Frank Parlato and his blog are so important.

Respectfully submitted,

You see what a Slanderer you are what a LIAR ? You don't know
